had to pick it up," Sell reasoned, and he began to the final miles and finished 3rd in 2:12:01 to claim for another self-inflicted pummeling, as even the cause than Howard Dean to wonder ‘what Michigan based Hansons-Brooks ODP decided to live and a field depleted by injuries to AR Khalid turned out to be the fastest trials race since the Olympic Year!

Remarkably, this marathon that ended in a flurry - considering the snow flurries blowing in the wind and a field depleted by injuries to Khalid, it was no surprise to Peter Clusener and Teddy Mitchell were the only brave souls to start the race at anything more than a warm-up pace. The rest of the field hit the mile post 3 in 15:45 and it appeared as if American marathoners were in...
